masters degree as they work towards PhD. A Masters of Engineering is only available for qualified MIT EECS undergraduates.]

The application website (see link below) is available on September 15, 2025, for students who wish to apply for graduate admission in September 2026. The deadline for submitting completed applications is December 1, 2025.

Applicants to the MIT EECS graduate program should apply using the EECS online admissions site: GradApply (<https://gradapply.mit.edu/eecs>).

Admissions decisions will be sent by the Office of Graduate Education using a new “MIT Application Management” system.

When an admissions decision is posted to the “MIT Application Management” system, you will be notified of an update to your application via email, and directed to log in to the “MIT Application Management” system to view the update. All decisions related to your submitted application will be posted in the “MIT Application Management” system.
